BRITAIN PAYING £27,500,000 FOR NEAR EAST FORCE

Churchill Hopes To Cut
Amount In Half
Next Year

DEFENDS POLICY THERE

Problem Of Palestine More Pressing Than That Of Mesopotamia

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 14.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, in introducing a supplementary estimate of £27,500,000 for the Middle East Department of the Colonial Office, said the conference he held at Cairo with experts from Mesopotamia and Palestine had decided in favor of an immediate reduction of the number of troops in Mesopotamia from a 33 battalion to a 23 battalion scale, with a prospective reduction after October to a 12 battalion scale. This resulted in a saving of £3,379,000 in the Army Estimates. The Government's total expenditure in both countries for the present year were £27,500,000. If the arrangements the Government were now making were successful, he anticipated that expenses for next year would not exceed £9,000,000 or £10,000,000.

The Colonial Secretary announced the Government's intention to replace the existing provisional native Government in Mesopotamia with an Assembly and an Arab ruler, but the Government, he said, had decided to attempt to build up around Baghdad an Arab state which would revive the old glory and culture of the Arab races. In recognition of the services of King Hussein and Emir Faisal during the war, it had been decided to place in the way of his candidature, and consequently Emir Faisal had already left Mecca for Baghdad. If he were elected, he would receive the countenance and support of Great Britain. The cost of the Arab Army would be defrayed from the Mesopotamian revenue, and behind the levies of the Kurdish and Assyrian refugees who were now taking over the outlying stations from the British, would stand, at the end of the year, twelve British battalions in addition to the air force, which would be increased to eight squadrons next year.

PALESTINE PROBLEM

The problem in Palestine, continued Mr. Churchill, was at present more acute than that in Mesopotamia, though much smaller from a military point of view. The only cause of unrest arose out of the Zionist movement and the British pledges in connection with it. It was impossible to hold out any hope of reducing the present garrison of five thousand which might require some slight reinforcement. Seven thousand Jews had entered Palestine this year under the Zionist scheme. Their immigration had excited and alarmed the Arab population, who feared they might be swamped by immigrants from Europe. These were illusions. No Jews would be brought from Europe beyond those for whom the country's resources would be able to provide.

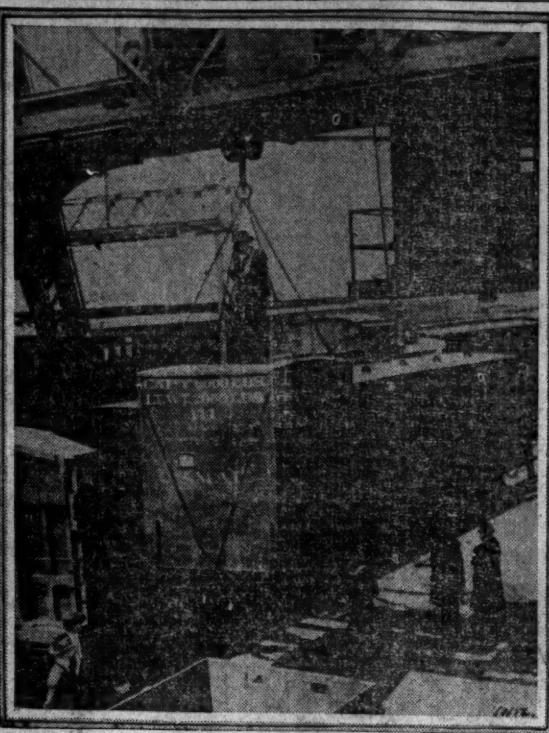

After paying a tribute to the value of the work done by the Jewish colonies, Mr. Churchill said there was no reason why there should not be a steady flow of Jewish immigration. Referring to the prevalent disorder across the Jordan and to the raids made on French territory from this region the Secretary for the Colonies said that the restoration of order had been entrusted to Emir Faisal's brother, Emir Abdullah, who had undertaken to prevent hostile action against the French.

GENERAL POLICY

Mr. Churchill declared that Great Britain's general policy of co-operation with the Shereefian family was in no way opposed to the interests of France. On the contrary, he said, it was the surest method of securing France from disturbances in Syria by Arab influences, and concluded by emphasizing the necessity for England and France to pursue a policy of agreement and friendship towards the Arabs and Turks, if they wished to maintain their position and to discharge their responsibilities in the Middle East.

The estimate was then agreed to. The motion of Mr. Edmund Harmsworth (Unionist) to have it reduced by £1,000,000 was withdrawn without debate.

HERE is the latest in mail carriers, a compartment car for the carrying of heavy mail, such as newspapers, catalogues, etc. The compartment cars, regular flat cars with six separate compartments. Each compartment may be removed easily by a crane at its destination. This will save much time in eliminating side-tracking of cars to be unloaded. This photo, made in the Chicago railroad yards, shows the Post Office Department's first compartment car being unloaded.

GREAT THROG AT LAST RITES FOR J. R. HYKES

Pahsienjao Chapel Banked With Flowers At Funeral

MASONIC CEREMONIES

American And English Lodges
Represented; Double
Service

(Reuter's Service)

The little Pahsienjao chapel was banked with flowers, and filled to overflowing with mourners yesterday afternoon at the funeral services over the body of Dr. John R. Hykes, the veteran evangelist and missionary, who died at the Shanghai General Hospital Tuesday evening after a lengthy illness.

A double funeral ceremony was read: the simple Presbyterian service by the Rev. Luther Freeman of the American Community Church, followed by a Masonic service conducted by the Rose de Croix chapter, Scottish Rites.

Rev. Freeman, after the reading of the service, gave a short eulogy on the dead. He spoke of the significance of life, and of death. The latter, he said, was not a penalty, nor a punishment. It was merely a passing to the life beyond that assuredly must exist. He pointed out the lesson of life: that one should prepare himself for the continuation of life in the hereafter.

Dr. Hykes, he said, had prepared himself bountifully, and, if the whole scheme of life and death were not irrational he must even now be reaping the benefits of his well-spent life on earth. He concluded with a prayer that comfort and consolation be afforded the bereaved.

MASONS IN CHARGE

The ceremony then was given over to the Rose de Croix chapter, which, with Judge C. S. Lobingier, a brother 33rd degree Mason to the deceased, officiating by special request, concluded the services with an impressive funeral rite.

Chapter Orator, for the occasion, Mr. N. E. Lorton, senior warden, and Mr. F. A. Bowen, junior warden assisted. A representative body of the chapter attended the service at the cemetery. The Sinn lodge, Massachusetts Constitution, and the District Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, of which the deceased was an honored member, also attended in body.

After the chapel service, eight members of the Rose de Croix chapter acting as pall bearers carried the casket to the grave-side, where the services were continued. Four hundred people stood in the open cemetery, with the misty rain driving down, with heads bared in last respect to the dead while the services were concluded. The Masonic rites were followed by a final prayer by the Rev. Freeman.

Yesterday's funeral held the widest interest and sympathy in all branches of the Masonic lodge. The deceased was one of but two 33rd degree Masons in the Far East.

Judge C. S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China since Dr. Hykes' death is the only one in the Orient holding that distinction. It was because of this fact that a special request was made for Judge Lobingier to officiate at yesterday's Masonic service.

Dr. Hykes was a member of the District Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, China District, which was represented at the funeral services by Dr. C. F. S. Lincoln, district deputy grand master, and Dr. S. A. Ransom, past district grand master, and officers of the lodge.

LODGES REPRESENTED

Other American Masonic lodges were represented by Mr. J. Shaw, worshipful master of the Ancient Landmark Lodge, Massachusetts; Mr. W. F. Deann, worshipful master of the Shanghai lodge, of the Massachusetts Constitution, and Mr. J. S. Dolan, Senior Warden, Sinn lodge, of the Massachusetts Constitution.

English lodges were represented by Dr. I. S. Ivy, district grand master, of the District Grand Lodge of Northern China, English Constitution, with his officers, and Mr. A. M. A. Evans, past eminent prior, Shanghai Preceptory and Priory, English Constitution.

Other lodges were represented by the following:

Mr. J. A. Mackenzie, first principal, Rising Sun Royal Arch Chapter, Scottish Constitution; Mr. M. C. Jensen, worshipful master, Tallen Lodge, Massachusetts Constitution; Major M. W. Buck, right worshipful master, Lodge Cosmopolitan, Scottish Constitution; Mr. H. P. Munns, right worshipful master, Lodge St. Andrew in the Far East, Scottish Constitution; Mr. J. E. Wheeler, right worshipful master, Lodge Saltoun, Scottish Constitution; and Mr. S. C. Young, worshipful master, Lodge Erin.

This Is Season Of 'Great Yellow Mold,' Hence The Flocks Of Precipitation

By ELSIE McCORMICK

LADIES and gentlemen of Shanghai, step up and be prepared to be the first of the Yellow Mold! Judging from its opening chapters, those who prayed for rain on the occasion of the recent Dragon Boat Festival sadly overdid it. Up in Tibet, where they have divine petition, reduced to scientific efficiency, someone would merely turn the handles of the prayerwheels in the wrong direction and thus unpray all the prayers. In Shanghai, however, where devotion is less systematized, the inhabitants can merely paste chawing-gum over the places in last year's water-proof where the rain trickles through, and keep an eye open for an appropriate ark in case of necessity.

The Season of the Great Yellow Mold somehow fails to arouse any enthusiasm in us. Our only umbrella has two floating ribs and a weak diaphragm, but we never seem to remember the fact unless it's raining and then we can't have it fixed because we haven't any other and the house-boy always seems to be hanging around the hat-rack. We went to a prayer-meeting once, where somebody traded our best pair of rubbers for a set which have punch-work embroidery on the soles and operate on the general principle of a suction-pump. Like many a hero of the football gridiron, they start out proudly on their own heels, but are invariably carried home.

The man who sold us our rain-coat told us it was water-proof, and it is. We can guarantee that it is absolutely proof against any water not getting in.

COOLIE VS. BANKER

Anybody who has reconnoitered around Shanghai on a rainy day will observe that the rainy leaders, of the coolie class are more concerned for the protection of their attire than the poor foreign plebeians who work in banks and similar institutions. Coolies whose complete wardrobe could be mailed to Canton under a three cent stamp invariably shelter their raincoat as carefully as a young lady wearing a shrinkable gown that is already too short. If one of their number manages to acquire an inviolable foreign umbrella, his social status goes up like a sky-rocket and he is as proud of himself as the man who has just succeeded in cheating the government out of six cents on his income tax.

The coolie's prejudice against the gentle rain from Heaven is especially surprising when one considers the glee with which he wades barefooted in moisture up to his knees while balancing the umbrella over his head. We read somewhere of a foreign institution which has provided shower-baths for its coolies. Probably they will enjoy them very much if permitted by the management to carry their umbrellas under the spray.

The Season of the Great Yellow Mold is the foster-mother to many strange sights. Yesterday we noted a coolie tamping rock on the street, with a paper umbrella strapped to his back to protect a costume that was mostly air-pockets. And have you observed the invaluable addition to the city's payroll who follows the rock-crusher on the street with a sprinkling pot and tries to compete with the downpour? Probably he was instructed to do this before the celestial liquidation, and having a single-track mind with no sidings or switches, he conscientiously continues to follow orders.

LIKE THE EGYPTIANS

Another by-product of the rainy season is the wet piece of muddy canvas which the rich man places in your lap under the delusion that it keeps you dry. The canvas also performs an interesting function in veiling young ladies' faces up to the eye-line and giving the general effect of a seraglio out for an airing. It is really surprising how beautiful the young women of Shanghai appear when half their features are covered up.

Riches coolies usually have better rainy day attire than their patrons, being garbed as a rule in soy westers and straw hats doffed by their companies. But like their brethren who gently tap stones on the street, they are interested merely in screening the zone north of the equator, their protection from the knees down being a coating of Shanghai's movable surface.

Rainy season fashions also include the nifty cocoanut fibre rain-coats with shell-like sleeves, not forgetting the less aristocratic straw variety which give the impression of a number of shredded wheat biscuits out for a walk. On the whole, however, their wearers seem considerably more comfortable than the butter-class Chinese gentleman who gathers up his silk petticoats and gingerly maps out a course between the mud puddles.

Shanghai inhabitants may as well get all the vaudeville possible out of the downpour, for it will help them to forget the moldy rooms suggestive of haunted castles, the battalions of newly-finished organdie dresses waiting patiently to see the light of day, the tennis rackets which despairing owners have tied with pink ribbon and converted into wall ornaments, and the forests of triassic vegetation which bloom on shoes and suitcases.

Incidentally, we have noted that most of the poems extolling the beauties of rain were written by people who live in dry climates.

ADMIRERS AT PEKING PAY TRIBUTE TO CRANE

Retiring Minister Is

Association

AN ABLE ENVOY

Influence Extended To All Parts Of Chinese
Republic

BY JOSEF W. HALL

Peking, July 15.—Mr. Charles R. Crane today turned over charge of the American Legation to the First Secretary of the Legation, Mr. Ruddock, who will act as Charge d'Affaires ad interim until the arrival of Jacob Gould Shurman, whose appointment as Minister has been confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. Crane is leaving Peking tomorrow night via Tientsin, Harbin and Russia. He was given a farewell and invitation to return today at the tiffin tendered him by the American Association of North China. The spokesman on behalf of the American community expressed to Mr. Crane the sincere gratitude of the American community in China for the way in which the ex-Minister has represented his country before the Chinese and other nationals in China. Mr. Crane's mission has been one of benevolent friendship rather than shrewd diplomacy, and his brief occupancy of the high post of representative of his government in Peking has accomplished a work in establishing mutual good will between the Chinese and American peoples which might well be the boast of a lifetime.

PROVED INFLUENTIAL

Wherever Mr. Crane's influence has reached—and the writer has found that it has reached to the borders of Tibet—there is a deep-seated conviction among the people of America's fairness, friendship and desire to help. The experience, and dignified, calm, yet friendly men of Mr. Crane, together with his frank and open manner of speech, have greatly added to the veneration in which he is held by the Chinese.

Mr. Crane, since his arrival as Minister one year ago, has diligently interested himself in all efforts being undertaken for the welfare of the Chinese people. He could never have got into the heart of things in such a short time had he not laid an excellent foundation through his study of and visits to China in previous years. As a young man, he came out in a sailing vessel to China, the trans-oceanic trip requiring four months, and in his vision of becoming the chief representative of his government and people in this country was after many years fulfilled. He has, since his assumption of the ministerial post, traveled incessantly and interviewed Chinese of all factions and stations constantly. He has never failed to find a point of contact with and sympathetic encouragement for all those endeavoring to uplift the Chinese nation.

PERSONAL GIFTS

Mr. Crane's personal gifts have been most manifold. Educational institutions, institutions of charity, famine relief, earthquake relief, Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations have received his generous support. In all these gifts he has acted publicly. His best known work has been that in connection with the famine in China. When the great famine threat came over China last fall, Minister Crane was one of the first to act. As he explained it several days ago: "I was told that it would be impossible to procure assistance from the United States. A famine drive, it was said, was doomed to failure. All recent 'drives' had failed and the American people who had given repeatedly for charity the past four years, refused to be 'driven' any more. Nevertheless I said the need was here, and I believed the American people never refused an object need once they understood it. In all these gifts he has acted publicly. AMERICAN SHIP SCENE OF BATTLE ON LONG VOYAGE

Seamen Maddened With Stolen
Run, Turn On Officers,
Court Is Told

As lurid and full of action as many of the sea stories of mutiny and battle was a narrative that was unfolded yesterday in the court of United States Commissioner F. J. Schulz by members of the crew of the American Shipping Board Steamer Eastern Admiral when charges against three of the seamen were heard.

The story told was one of strife and bloodshed that made a hideous nightmare of the long voyage across the Pacific after members of the crew had bronched a portion of the cargo of rum that the ship carried consigned to Manila.

"It was worse than anything a novelist might imagine," said Capt. John W. Nicholson, master of the vessel, who added that things were made more difficult for him by reason of the presence on the ship of his wife. He told of the general disorder aboard that followed when the men became maddened with the rum they are alleged to have stolen from the cargo and he spoke of quarrels and clashes of various kinds and fights between officers and men on the bridge of the ship.

FIGHT IS CLIMAX
A climax of all the trouble developed when the ship arrived at the port of Milke, Japan on June 8 and the testimony given yesterday was focused on a struggle that occurred on the pier there in which Second Assistant Engineer Charles H. Thorpe was victim of a concerted attack by a number of the men.

J. Sheehan and D. Duskun of the engine room crew, two of the trio that answered charges, were held by Commissioner Schulz for trial in the United States Court for China and Sheehan, who was said to be chiefly responsible for the trouble at Milke, may have to answer an additional charge of larceny of U. S. Government property, as Captain W. I. Elsie, Shanghai representative of the U. S. Shipping Board asserted that he intended to make such a charge when he was testifying.

TWO IN HOSPITAL
A side issue that came to light in the course of the hearing, revealing that the outbreak at Milke was merely an interlude in the general disorder on the ship, had to do with a fight that occurred after the ship reached Shanghai between two of the crew named Rice and Swensen, both of whom are in hospital recovering from injuries each inflicted upon the other. It was reported that Rice was seriously wounded by Sheehan who, it is alleged, wielded a razor in the struggle. Both of these men are to answer supplementary charges before Commissioner Schulz, Swensen's hearing being set for next Saturday and Rice's as soon as he recovers sufficiently to appear in court.

According to the testimony given in connection with the fight at Milke, Elbert Taylor, Third Officer reported that Sheehan had taken ashore two cans of varnish from the ship's stores. On orders of Chief Engineer Jennings Thorpe, the second assistant engineer followed Sheehan to get the property and the fight then started on the pier, Duskun and G. Whalen taking active parts.

Certain of the testimony given indicated that Whalen though drunk, had tried to assume the role of peace maker while the others were attacking Thorpe and by reason of this Whalen was given the benefit of the doubt by the court and the charge against him was dismissed. The fight on the pier was followed by a second struggle that developed after Thorpe had made his way back aboard ship. He had locked himself in his room when a group of the crew followed him and another fight developed after they had broken down his door.

WITNESS UNSTEADY
A significant incident of the hearing, illustrative of the situation on the Eastern Admiral, was presented when the first witness, Chief Engineer Jennings, was called. The court was quick to observe his unsteady gait and with some caustic comments upon his condition refused to permit him to take the stand. Christopher Connor, another witness, who was a member of the crew, furnished some little amusement when instead of testifying directly he set about to air his views on ship management and sundry other questions and then was excused.

Sheehan denied on the stand that he had removed any of the ship's stores intimating that he had observed two Japanese take the cans of varnish from the vessel. He denied also that he had been the aggressor in the fight at Milke. Duskun and Whalen both admitted that they had been very drunk and said they could remember little or nothing of what had occurred.

Diplomatic Corps Approves Plan To Disarm Soldiers

The Diplomatic Corps is said to have approved the memorandum filed with it by the Consular Body at Hankow on Chinese disarmament. The message, according to the Chinese press, states that two-thirds of the 1,500,000 troops in China should be disbanded, while the remainder should be sent to the frontier provinces for garrison duty.

Volunteers and police are to maintain peace and order of the interior in order to avoid the repetition of the difficulties in Ichang and Wuchang.

It is reported that the Diplomatic Corps is framing a note on this suggestion and that this will soon be delivered to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

In view of the critical condition in both Kiangsu and Chekiang as a result of Tsuchun Lu Yung-hsiang's defiant attitude and Tsuchun Chi Shih-yuan's unpopularity with his troops, the Diplomatic Corps in Peking will take steps to maintain the peace and order of Shanghai and vicinity by allowing no troops to be transported by the two railways, the Shanghai-Nanking and the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railways.

While the Corps regards the situation in both provinces as domestic conflicts, it maintains that the foreign interests justify the action to be taken to check the activities of the militarists.

Chinese press reports say that Little Hsu, the Anfu warlord, is now in Hangchow with the Tsuchun. A large number of other Anfuites and Kuomintang politicians are in the Chekiang capital to advise the already converted Military Governor.

Martial law has been declared throughout the province under the pretext that routed troops from Wuchang and Ichang may find their way to the region. Many organizations believed to have been inspired by Lu are being formed in Hangchow and elsewhere to support the scheme laid down by the Tsuchun—the drafting of a provincial constitution for Chekiang by militarists and politicians.

Bandits Still Hold Captive Missionary

Mr. C. H. Stevens, Made
Hostage Six Weeks Ago In Shensi, Not Yet Released

Mr. C. H. Stevens, missionary of the China Inland Mission, who has been held captive of Kuo Chien, the Shensi bandit leader, for the past six weeks, is still a prisoner at Fenghsienfu, according to the most recent advices that have been received in Shanghai by the China Inland Mission. It is believed here that reports that Mr. Stevens was seriously ill are not well founded and it is not believed now that he will come to any serious harm, though threats against his life were made a few weeks ago by the bandits.

Following representations made to Peking by missionary organizations, the Government directed Gen. Chen Shu-fang, Tsuchun of Shensi, to make every effort to bring about the captive's release. At that time Shensi troops with others from the neighboring province of Kansu were advancing upon Fenghsienfu and a condition that the bandits imposed for the release of Mr. Stevens was that the advance of the soldiers be halted. No reports have been received here of recent troop movements and it is thought possible that some arrangement may be taking shape through which Mr. Stevens may be permitted to leave.

A PAINFUL ENEMY

Rheumatism is a Blood-poison

Until not long ago, doctors as well as patients thought rheumatism was due to damp and cold. You need fear neither of these if you are not carrying rheumatism poison about with you in your blood. It is an acid which only finds its way into impoverished blood, and is the worst enemy you can have.

This acid in the blood has an irritating effect, almost like vinegar dropped into a wound. The blood carries it to the muscles, and their tender surfaces are tormented by it, especially during changeable weather, making the sufferer think that damp is the cause. It is only part of the cause. Sometimes the acid concentrates in the joints and we grow stiff. The first sign is crackling sounds in the joints.

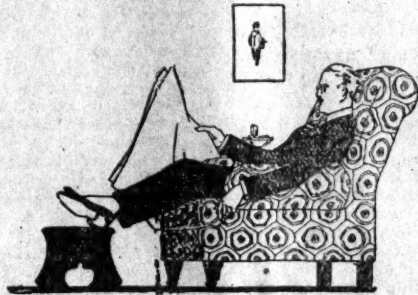

But it can all be cured, for Dr. Williams' pink pills, by improving the quality of the blood, enable the system to throw off the rheumatic poison. Enriching and purifying the blood as they do, Dr. Williams' pink pills have proved successful in thousands of cases of rheumatism, even in its worst stages, and they have been equally helpful as a remedy for sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia.

If you are troubled with any form of ill-health due to impure or defiluted blood now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people. Get a supply from your dealer, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 98 Sochen Road, Shanghai, price $1.50 per bottle, $3 for 6 bottles, post free. For men and women too.

McKENNA FEARS GERMAN TRADE WILL HIT BRITAIN

Ex-Treasurer Sees Menace To England When Teutons Recover

AIDED BY ALLIED TAX
Highly Developed Manufacturing Facilities To Be Big Factor

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—That Germany would greatly impair Great Britain's international trade if she were able to meet her obligations was the conclusion reached by Mr. Reginald McKenna, Chairman of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, and formerly Chancellor of the Exchequer, in an address delivered before the Institute of Chartered Accountants on the subject of international debts.

While Germany in 1914 was a creditor nation to the extent of one thousand millions sterling, she was now required to pay £2,750,000,000 in instalments of up to £400,000,000 yearly. The export duty of 26 percent would constitute a bonus or preference in favor of Germany's invisible exports, which would be further cheapened by low wages.

If Germany were able to meet her next two years' liabilities, said Mr. McKenna, she would thereafter be able to meet the demands made upon her, and British trade would be mainly affected by her highly developed manufacturing and commercial power.

Mr. McKenna said he thought there was a method of making Germany contribute to the Allies' prosperity by sending the Allies raw materials, which would necessitate the withdrawal of capital from manufacturing.

EMPLOYERS OFFER TO GIVE BUILDERS RAISE NEXT YEAR

Contractors At Meeting Declare They Cannot Meet Requests Now

A carpenter caught sticking up posters referring to the builders' strike was charged in the Mixed Court yesterday. When arrested he was found to be in possession of nearly 300 of the posters, which Detective Sub-Inspector Sullivan traced to a printing shop on Foochow Road. The prisoner and two other men had ordered 700 printed that afternoon and had removed them and started posting them up on electric light poles the same evening.

The Sub-Inspector asked that a remand be given in order to give the police opportunity to find out who is behind the strike agitation. The authorities felt sure, he said, that the carpenters and masons were not the prime movers. The Assessor stated, however, after he and the Magistrate had read over the circular, that the Court found the notice to be couched in very mild language and the accused was released with a caution.

The accused said that he had gone on strike only that afternoon, that the poster only referred to the strikers' request for an increase and that he did not know he was doing anything wrong. He had intended to return to work tomorrow anyway, he added.

Three other carpenters appeared on the charge of trying to intimidate workers in a Japanese shop at 3725 Haining Road. They were remanded in custody for a week in order to allow the arrest of others concerned.

It is thought that these fresh agitations may be the consequence of a meeting of the committee of the Carpenters' and Masons' Guild, held at the Yih Ping Shang hotel on Monday, when the question of increased wages was discussed. The contractors declared that there was no necessity for a raise now, since rice was at a lower price than last year. They stated that owing to the increase given last year they had lost heavily, but said that they were willing to grant a raise to take effect in the third month of next year. At that time, they said, they would agree to pay carpenters, masons and sawyers at the rate of 40 cents, big money, per day, with a 13-cent reduction if food is supplied. Apprentices would receive 25 cents, big money, per day, with a similar deduction for food.

The Guild is to issue a circular notice to this effect to the strikers, only a percentage of whom are still out, urging them to return to their labors. Should they not do so and should they continue trying to intimidate those who are working, the association will petition the authorities to take steps to punish them.

RICE IS FACTOR

In connection with the labor unrest in the Settlement the Commissioner of Police in his report for the month of May, issued today, comments as follows:

"The month closed with a good deal of labor unrest strikes of washermen and carpenters being imminent. It is evident that propaganda work is being done by professional agitators in connection with this question and that these men are not unconnected with the labor agitators of other countries. The dearth of rice and the flooding of the Shanghai market with debased copper currency have brought about the dissatisfaction necessary to prepare the ground for propagandist seed."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen.

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Dr. J. C. H. H. H. guarantees genuine Castoria.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind in the market."

J. E. SHARPE, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"I have prescribed Castoria in families for several years. It is all right. Nothing like it, for children will take it without any trouble."

F. CHAMBERS, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserving the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."

CHAS. EDWARD GARDNER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children. I have used it for years. I can't say enough for it. It is a real life-saver."

RUTH NOW HAS 21 HOMERS, FOUR AHEAD OF 1920 RECORD; BAMBINO LOOKS GOOD FOR 60

New York Americans Slugger Bangs Out Two Circuit Clouts
Against Detroit; English Writer Tells World
Ruth Is Good

Babe Ruth, the Giants mighty slugger of home runs, knocked out his twentieth and twenty-first homers in the game on Monday, New York versus Detroit at the Polo Grounds, according to a United States Radio telegram received yesterday.

Ruth this year is four home runs ahead of his 1920 record for the corresponding date, and twelve days ahead of his twenty-first circuit of last year. On June 13, 1920, Ruth had rapped out his twentieth homer; his twenty-first was recorded on June 25.

With but two months or approximately one third of the baseball season gone, Babe, if he maintains his present long hitting pace, should set a record for 1921 of 60 home runs, as compared with his record breaker in 1920 of 54.

The Bambino is attracting attention all over the world and here is how an English sport writer looks at Ruth. The article is taken from a London paper and is headed "The Reporter At The Ball Game."

FLEET, WHITE BALL
Today I went to the ball game. In the United States one need not say baseball game. There is the golf ball, the billiard ball, the baseball, the football; but the ball of all balls is the baseball.

How white it was as it sped from the pitcher's unwinding arm and smacked into the catcher's deep glove. With what fleetness it rebounded from the bat and flew far out over the lovely green of the outfield, or scuttled and bounced across the warm brown of the infield! And when it soared high and far over that right field fence—ah, that was the game's most vivid moment!

For the great batter, the mighty Babe, knocked out one of those famous home runs of his today, and we all leaped to our feet and screamed.

YEH, SCREECHED
I had not screeched last summer. Often, during the winter, I longed to screech. If I could screech in the middle of an interview I could do much better work. There is much noise in the city and one is conscious how little of it he himself can make with propriety. I don't attempt to explain why, when I stand under the roaring elevated, between two clattering lines of traffic, I invariably sing loudly.

One reason may be that no one can hear me except myself. But why the outbreak should always occur just then is somewhat of a mystery to me. If you motor past a chap standing under the elevated, and are observant enough to notice that his "lips" are moving strangely and apparently with silence, while his eyes gleam and his whole face glows with an atmosphere not of this earth, then you may be reasonably certain that you have seen me.

ALL OUT LOOSE
At the ball game everybody cuts loose on the slightest pretext. There were thousands of us today and we all had something to shout about everything. When the visitors' third baseman leaned far out and stopped with one hand a ball battered with a bullet's speed, and got his man at first by the breadth of a hair, I slapped the stranger next me on the shoulder, and he beamed back at me like an indulgent brother.

When with two men on bases and two runs needed to tie the score, two out, two strikes and three balls on the visiting batter, our pitcher caused him to swing vainly a foot below the ball. I was again glad I had gone to the game alone, because I could jump up again and swing my hat and shout.

That hat has sat upon my head all winter with as much dignity as all my city manners have cloved upon me. But now at intervals both hat and manners will be thrown off. I shall leap and slap strangers' backs and cry out for sheer joy of free expression.

An hour later I may be jumbled in a conventionalized elevated train with a strap in one hand and the driest of the weeklies in the other, but I shall have had my day in the open. I shall have experienced the joy of seeing 180 sprightly fellows expressing the most vigorous sort of activity, inspired and guided by a canny skill. I shall have said my say to the skies and yelled my mannerly yoke completely off for the space of two blessed hours.

Sports Correspondence

Sporting Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.
Dear Sir: I have noticed in your sporting column of June 14 the following item: "It was the first victory of Filipino swimmers over those from Japan in the decade of history of Far Eastern Olympics."

I beg your pardon, Mr. Editor, this is our second victory over the Japanese in swimming. The first time they were defeated was in Manila in 1919 when they took third place in swimming event with Philippines first 25 points, China second 10 points and Japan third with 9 points.

Enclosing my card, I remain, Yours very truly,
FILIPINO ATHLETE.

June 15, 1921.

Sorry, Japan in 1919 sent a very small representation to Manila. If you remember, Japan did not even send a baseball team for some reason or another. Nevertheless Filipino Athlete, you are correct. We are wrong—probably for the first time in history.

Sporting Editor.

Boxing Enthusiast:—In the answer to your query re Dempsey and Carpentier, the heights of the two men were omitted.

Dempsey is six feet, one inch. Carpentier is five feet, 11 ins. Sport Editor.

President Harding Gets As Gift Set Of Fine Golf Sticks

A set of golf clubs, magnificent in design, has been presented to President Harding by the Brentwood Country Club of Los Angeles. The set comprises eight sticks, a driver, a brassie, a brassie spoon, a driving iron, midiron, mashie, niblick and putter, all of fine workmanship. They were made of hickory from Ohio and have imported heads. The "iron" clubs were made of finest steel, while the wooden sticks are inlaid with ivory.

Yale Defeats Tigers, Track Meet

Princeton (N. J.), May 7.—Yale athletes defeated Princeton in a track meet today 55 to 48. It was one of the hardest fought meets held here, the result being in doubt until the last event, the 220-yard dash, which Feldman of Yale won in 22 seconds.

All of the thirteen events were closely contested except the one-mile run, in which Yale won all three places. Several Princeton records were broken.

WEEKLY SWIMS AT ROWING CLUB GIVEN BEGINNING

Preliminaries Of One Length Handicap And Diving Are Run Off

The first of the weekly—Wednesday—swimming evenings of the Shanghai Rowing Club was last evening, when the preliminary and final heats of the One Length handicap, free style, were swum off, and a standing header competition, from the 6th step of the diving platform, was decided. Johnston won the former and J. B. Brown the latter. There was no team race, and it was difficult to get up a water polo match; eventually a very scratch game was pulled off with six men a-side.

The staging that accommodated spectators was not up to this year; so it was fortunate that not too many visitors turned up, as they would have had to stand.

An interested spectator was Mr. J. F. James, the prominent Kobe ex-athlete, who is a brother of the Albert James who showed such a rare turn of speed in the interport between Shanghai and Kobe at the latter place last year, and who himself was one of the hosts who put up the Shanghai team.

The results last night were:

One Length Handicap
Heat 1
Johnston 1
Bell 2
L. Goldman 1
Day 2
R. A. Berthel 3
Heat 3
Lawrie Smith 1
J. V. B. Brown 2
Final Heat: Goldman 1
Johnston 2
Day 3
Time: 17 2/5 secs.

The diving brought out a fair number of competitors, among whom Brown was the best; Berthel in spite of his weight—some 203 lbs., it is stated—was next best.

The water polo game was rather a tame affair, the result being a win for the Whites, who scored 5 goals (Wallin 3, Henry 2) as against Blues' four goals (MacCabe 2, Berthel 2).

Tournament Of Fly Casters Now Set For August 26-29

The national fly casting tournament which was to have been held in Portland, Oregon, September 1-3 will be held, instead, August 26-29, the change in dates having been made at the suggestion of F. J. Lane, Chicago, national secretary of the International Bait and Fly Casting Association. The reason for holding the tournament earlier was that most of the men who were expected to attend had planned to have their vacations in August.

Big League Players To Make Trip To Far East This Fall

Aggregation Of Star Players Have Proposed Tour Of The Orient Under Consideration—Japan Making Plans For Expense Guarantee—Kelly, Home-Run Artist, Included In Line-Up Of Visitors

That a serious invasion of the Orient is contemplated by baseball teams from the States is evident from reports from Japan and San Francisco. There appears to be a desire of many major league baseball players for a tour of the Orient after the world's series this coming fall.

The first intimation to this effect was received in Tokyo, in the form of a letter from New York. This letter mentioned the fact that a group of players from the big leagues were considering a trip to the far east, if there was any possibility of their making a financial success of the journey. The players would start from Frisco immediately after the close of the post-season series and upon arriving in Japan about November 1, would play selected teams throughout the Orient until it came time for the opening of the training season in the States.

At present, this proposition is under consideration by a group of Tokyo sport promoters, who are trying to find ways and means to make it possible for these players to be guaranteed expenses at least for the trip. This means naturally that Japan would have first call for the services of the team after its arrival.

A canvas is being made throughout the big time circuits in the States to secure enough men to make the barn-storming outfit a strong aggregation, and to date many of the men approached have signified their willingness. It will be noted that

George Kelley

This is Babe Ruth's rival, who may come to the Far East in the Fall.

George Kelly of the Giants, the lad that is giving Babe Ruth a race for home-run honors, is mentioned as a possibility.

The present line-up of those who have already expressed a desire to come to the far east include many of the stars of the New York Giants.

Girl Physical Directors Are Graduated By Y. W. C. A.

Yesterday twelve Chinese girls received the certificate of the Normal School of Hygiene and Physical Education conducted by the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai, having completed a two-year course which equips them to go into various schools as physical directors, a profession still almost entirely new to Chinese women.

This is the fifth year since the school was inaugurated by the National Committee of the Young Women's Christian Association, whose members conceived this to be one of the most strategic approaches which could be made to the question of the all-round development of Chinese womanhood which is implicit in a Christian program of work. The total number of graduates is now exactly fifty, almost all of whom are teaching or under appointment to teach in schools all over China.

The week has been a crowded one at the beautiful plant of the school at the end of Tonneson Road. It opened with a benediction sermon on Sunday by Dr. Cheng Chong-yi, leader of the China for Christ Movement, and included a field day on Tuesday and a Spring Demonstration on Wednesday, closing with the com-

AUSTRALIANS DEFEAT ENGLAND IN SECOND TEST

Visitors Win Match By Eight Wickets—Crowds Smaller

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 14.—Australia won the second test match by eight wickets.

England's overnight score stood at 243 for eight wickets, the Hon. Lionel Tennyson being not out 44.

The wicket was perfect, despite the cloudy weather, when play was resumed this morning. There was a heavy falling-off in the attendance, not more than five thousand spectators being present to watch the sealing of England's fate.

The Home side's last two wickets fell for forty runs, of which Mr. Tennyson (not out 74) manfully contributed thirty, and England was all out for 283. The Hampshire batsman who had had a lucky let-off yesterday, the wicket-keeper missing him when he had only scored nine runs, had been at the wickets for an hour and forty minutes, his brilliant innings including ten fours.

Australia had no difficulty in hitting up the necessary runs to win, and with 131 runs for two wickets to their credit, secured the match by eight wickets. For the visitors, Mr. W. Bardsley made 63 not out—a confident display, his cutting being particularly fine—and Mr. T. J. E. Andrews 49.

London, June 14.—In county championship cricket matches concluded today, Surrey beat Warwickshire by five wickets, Yorkshire beat Leicestershire by an innings and 242 runs. Somerset beat Derbyshire by sixty-five runs, Kent beat Sussex by 114 runs, and Nottinghamshire beat Lancashire by 177 runs. A match between Essex and Northamptonshire was drawn.

TIGER CREW WINS

ITHACA, N. Y., Saturday, May 21.—Princeton won the triangular regatta over Cornell and Yale on Cayuga Lake here this afternoon. Cornell came in three lengths behind with Yale third. Princeton's time was 10:33.

JIM JEFFRIES BELIEVES THAT CARPENTIER MAY ASTONISH THE WORLD IN BIG FIGHT

Frenchman Is So Fast That Dempsey Cannot Stand Flatfooted
And Spok Him As He Did Jess Willard, Fred Fulton
And Other Truck Horses

BY ROBERT EDGREN

Jim Jeffries thinks Carpentier may astonish the world July 2. On a flying trip to the Coast I carried an invitation from Tex Rickard to Jeffries on his San Fernando valley ranch to be Rickard's guest at the Dempsey-Carpentier bout.

"Guess I'll go," said Jeff. "I'll have my oil wells going by that time, and the ranch in good shape, so that I can get away for a little vacation, and I'd like to see this fight. Is the Frenchman as fast as they say?"

"Fast as any heavy-weight you ever saw," I said.

"Can he punch—has he a real kick?"

"He punches hard enough to suit anybody."

"Then he'll beat Jack," said Jeff, suddenly. "I know Jack well and think a lot of him. He used to come over to see me, and bring his mother along, and he's a fine fellow and a good fighter. But if the Frenchman is as clever as they say, and can hit, he has a first-class chance. That's all there is to it."

"Well, Jack isn't so 'sow himself, and he knocks 'em out in a round," I suggested.

"He won't land those hard punches on a fast, clever man," said Jeffries. "If Carpentier is anything like Corbett in cleverness, Dempsey isn't going to sock him the way he did Willard. A fast, clever man won't let Dempsey land his hardest punches. If the Frenchman knows how to take care of himself he's going to give Jack a fight. I know how hard it was to hit Corbett where it would do any good. If Corbett had ever had any kind of a punch he would have been a great fighter; but of course he couldn't hit. They say the Frenchman is as fast and clever as Corbett ever was, and he has a punch. You give a fast, clever man a punch and he's likely to slip it over on Dempsey or anyone else."

CARPENTIER'S RECORD

Georges began boxing when he was only 12 years old, and fought three ring battles at 13, winning two and losing one. When only 15 he fought many of the best bantam-weights, French and English. He fought a fifteen-round bout with the famous Charles Ledoux, one of the strongest and hardest-hitting little men France ever turned out, and Georges earned the decision.

He fought fifteen battles in his fifteenth year, and more when he was 16. At 17 he was going like a streak, beating Frank Loughrey, Jack Goldswain, Young Joseph, Arthur Evernden, Sid Burns and Harry Lewis. He beat Lewis in twenty rounds, and Lewis at that time was one of the best middle-weights in the Amer-

POLICE HEAD SEES TROUBLES AHEAD IN RICE SITUATION

Indications That Price Will Rise Owing To Smuggling And Profiteering

Fertile comment on the rice situation, and an intimation of graver conditions which may be expected to prevail in the near future are contained in the report of the Commissioner of Police, published in today's Municipal Gazette. The excerpt from the report follows:

"The price of rice has gradually increased during the past month until it reached the unprecedented price, for this time of the year, of $11 per picul. Interviewed during the month, Messrs. Chang Loh-chun and Yih Wei-chun, Chairman and Vice Chairman respectively of the Rice Dealers' Guild, stated that the Rice Dealers' Guild had come to an arrangement with the City Magistrate to keep the price of rice at $11 or under per picul until Dragon Boat Festival Day, June 10, but these two gentlemen added that nothing could prevent the price going up after that date, and in their opinion it would go up to $14 or $15 per picul. They gave various causes for the increase in price but undoubtedly the two chief causes are smuggling and the holding up of supplies by the rice growers in the interior in order to force high prices. In the opinion of Messrs. Chang and Yih there is very little smuggling from Shanghai, most of it being done by rail to the north. The fact that a considerable area of land along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway line where rice was formerly grown, has been given over to the cultivation of tobacco helps to bring about a shortage. It is asserted that the prevention of smuggling is sometimes placed in the hands of careless and ignorant underlings in the interior, and that these men often prevent legitimate supplies, intended for consumption in Shanghai, from coming to this port.

Negotiations are in progress between local rice dealers and producers in South China for the supply of a large quantity of Saigon rice, but it is too early as yet to say what success the promoters of the scheme will have."

Tippling Burglars Get Long Terms

Two Chinese who burglarized the homes of Mr. R. E. Seatchard and Mr. J. Timm, in the French Concession, and a shopkeeper convicted of receiving the stolen property, received sentences of one year's imprisonment each in the Mixed Court yesterday, the terms to be followed by expulsion in the first two instances.

One of the burglars was serving a one month sentence in the Settlement jail and it was the taking of his fingerprints which provided the clue for establishing the identity of the burglars. The loot from the two houses totaled about $1,200. Mr. Seatchard testified that when his home was invaded the burglars helped themselves to two bottles of whisky, which they emptied. The shopkeeper denied that he knew the property was stolen when he bought it, but the other accused declared that not only was he aware of the fact but that he had participated in the robbery as Mr. Seatchard's and had drunk the whisky mentioned. All the other property was recovered.

Jeffries Thinks Carpenter May Spring Surprise

World beater in his class, many Englishmen traveling to Monte Carlo to see the fight and back their man heavily. Carpenter attacked so furiously that he knocked the English champion into the second round, and Sullivan hardly had time to land a punch.

DESCAMPS SAVED HIM ONCE

For a little while Carpenter's fighting form went off. He lost to Frank Klaus, world's champion, on a foul in the nineteenth round, at Leipzig, and to Billy Parke, former world's champion, at Paris. Descamps, Carpenter's manager, jumped into the ring to save Georges in the seventeenth round. But he was only 18 at that time, and was said to be weak from growing too fast.

When he was 19 he grew stronger and started a knockout streak. He beat rugged Marcel Moreau in eight rounds, knocked out Bandsman Rice in two, Cyclone Smith in three, George Gunther in fourteen, and then was matched to fight Bombardier Wells at Ghent, in Belgium.

Carpenter was still a middle-weight and Wells was the cleverest heavy-weight turned out in England since Mitchell's time, 6 feet 3 1/2 inches tall, splendidly built, then fighting in good form, a sharp, hard hitter.

KNOCKS OUT LURIE

A few days later he knocked out Albert Lurie in three rounds, then Ashley Williams in four. He then fought Jeff Smith, one of the best of American middle-weights, and beat him in twenty rounds decision. Two weeks later he knocked out Jnr. Lancaster of England in three rounds at Geneva.

About this time the English sportsmen decided that Bombardier Wells ought to have another chance, fighting at home in England.

land, and offered Carpenter a good purse to fight in London. Carpenter accepted, and he showed how well he can plan a battle when he knows his man. In the first round of the first round he whipped two blows into Wells's body, bent him over and knocked him cold with a punch on the chin, the whole affair lasting only a few seconds.

Carpenter at 20 knocked out English middle-weight Champion Pat O'Keefe (a good fighter) in two rounds, and fought a fifteen-round bout with Joe Jeannette in Paris, losing a decision that was so close Jeannette's own manager, Daniel McKeetrick, told me afterward he had the greatest surprise of his life when the referee held up Joe's hand. In an early round of the fight Carpenter knocked Jeannette down for a nine-second count.

Jeannette, on coming home, assured me that Sam Langford never hit him as hard as Georges. But Jeannette was one of the greatest heavy-weights in skill, strength, endurance and courage in America at that time—a good thing that Jack Johnson never would give him a chance at the championship—and he outlasted Carpenter and was stronger at the finish. Carpenter at that time weighed about 162 pounds, Jeannette 185.

BEATS GUNBOAT ON FOUL

Undiscouraged, Carpenter went on winning. He knocked out George Mitchell in one round, Hubert Roe in three, Philip Robinson in three and then fought Gunboat Smith in London and won on a foul in six rounds. The Gunner was then at his best and a terrible puncher. Carpenter knew about the Gunner's wallop and devised a peculiar style for that fight, crouching so low that Smith couldn't make use of his favorite overhand swing. The Frenchman landed swift jabs at will and waited for a sure opening for his K. O. punch.

In one of Smith's rushes Carpenter slipped to one knee, and Smith, who thought he was only prying lower, swung an uppercut. Descamps claimed a foul and the referee allowed the claim.

Carpenter won a small bout at Bordeaux, when the sudden breaking out of the war sent him, like every other young Frenchman in his military class, headlong into the war.

After four years of constant service at the front, first as driver of an officer's car and afterward as a flyer, in which time he competed in army field sports and boxed only in camp. Carpenter made a fresh start. He won a small bout and then was matched with Beckett, English heavy-weight champion and a tough, rugged fighter.

He fought Carpenter's punch flashed again. He knocked Beckett out in a few seconds of fighting, in which Beckett, like Wells, never had a chance to land a single clean blow. Beckett was crouching, boring in, forcing the attack, when Carpenter saw his opening. In one movement he lifted himself on his toes and threw his whole body behind a single, long, driving right-hand punch that hit Beckett on the chin and knocked him out for ten minutes.

IN order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific prevention must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and destruction of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

The Situation in China

ALTHOUGH there is no real warfare in China, the situation today is one of serious gravity.

In West China, Chen Shu-fang, disposed Tsuchun of Shensi is closing up on Feng Yu-hsiang who is in command of Chihli troops, because he and his subordinates refuse to obey Peking's order of dismissal. Peking reports declare that Chang Tso-ling, the Fengtien warlord, is looking for an opportunity to strike. The blow of course will be against the Chihli faction. His connection with the Shensi Tsuchun is, of course, well-known.

In East China, Tsuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang is seriously concerned with the downfall of his former Anfu teammate in Shensi. His telegrams defy the Central administration and threaten a declaration of independence. From reliable sources it is learned that he has formed an alliance with the Kuomintang faction in the South and if this is true the scene is set for a sanguinary combat.

While the war clouds are thick along the Lower Yangtze, the weakness of Upper Yangtze represented by Wang Tsan-yuan, the super-Tsuchun of Hupeh and Hunan, is bared through a bit of Anfu propaganda. Wang left Peking with flying colors, but no one knows exactly how much money he received from the government treasury. The rumor that he had received enough to pay his soldiers in full aroused the suspicion of his own men and kindled the fire of wrath among the soldiery that set Ichang and Wuchang ablaze.

Meanwhile there is the open conflict between the Kwangtung and Kwangsi cliques in South China, the clash between Moham-medans and Chinese in Kansu and the suppressed feeling of rivalry between the Chihli and Fengtien camps in North China. These merely concern China proper.

Along the borders too, the Mongolian invasion has caused residents of Peking and cities north of the metropolis much loss of sleep, while the Bolshevik propaganda in Tibet is another source of great anxiety.

Like a person whose vitality has been drained by numerous diseases and wounds, China's hope for recovery is dim.

Diplomatically, Japan has just completed her conference on China matters. This was attended by the highest executive authorities of Nippon as well as important Japanese diplomatic and consular representatives serving in China. Obata, the Japanese Minister to China, is due to arrive in Peking any day, to inaugurate the policy prescribed by the conference. This is reported to call for a resumption of the political and commercial system of plunder such as was exercised during the Anfu administration.

On top of all this China also has to face the probability of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. All in all it is no rosy prospect that confronts her.

TOWN NOISES

Noises of the town
Rising to beat against the phantasmagoria of the clouds,
You haunt me, immense clamor:
Cries, angers, quarrels,
Rickshaws, motors, swears of men,
And their laughter, their curses, their tears,
And even the beating of my own heart.

What a multitude of sounds! I haven't even thought of the croaking of the crows, the frowning of the frogs; the mousing of the mosquitoes, and the sirens of the ships.

I have been reading free translations of Andre Spire, French poet, who wished to make poetry more human, more real, more moving, by eliminating affectations of Symbolists, by choosing simple, often humble themes, and expressing them without regard to rhyme or meter.

Had he been in Shanghai today he would probably have written a few lines upon Bruce and his tirade against those who would cut from our Public Garden, shading trees and children's haunts, to make mud pies with.

This is with apologies to Andre Spire.

WE DREAM

What strife!
They wrong you, mes enfants,
Oh! you!
In the sky, in the universe,
Nothing but is for you.
Oh you! The world they take from you
And they! They sold you
For mud pies—and you
Might be worse.

Somehow or other I don't think that Bruce of the Broken Heart likes motor cars. If he did he would not mind Mr. Godfrey cutting down a tree or so, and limiting the children's play ground by a mow or so—more or less. But let me console him with another of Andre Spire's free poems and we will call it:

THE ELECT.

"We are the elect," they say.
They have motor-cars,
Houses and horses.

"We are the elect," they say.

"If we want the Bund;
Why not? We want it!
Let the trees go, and the gardens too.
You sue—
But we have the fnd.
For we are the elect.

"We organise labor;
We are indispensable;
The workmen earn their cents,
The coolies carry their bags—

And in the same strain, uncontrolled, unfettered, unembarrassed we might suit the poet under attention to the more popular theory of—

THESE STRIKES

These strikes! But maskee!
Why worry?
Young women
With the naked throat,
And the breast not very well hidden,
And the legs not very well dressed,
Have you thought?

Young woman on the sofa
With chocolate
On the light of your teeth
And on the red of your lips
What do you think of the strikes?

The shops shut,
But—
What have you to fear? Phut!

You with your husbands
And your friends,
You in your evening dress,
Your caress,
What could you do without forced work?

Working-man, whom I have ceased to love,
Because after all you are worth no more than I.
Working-man, you who trouble my life,
Who spoil my plans
At a time when my mind ages,
Flinches and dreams of peace,
Working-man, with thy faults
I do not love thee still!

A King's Doctor Gaily Explores The West Indies

The Cradle Of The Deep. By Sir Frederick Treves. E. P. Dutton & Co.

Sir Frederick Treves must have had the time of his life writing his book about the Greater and Lesser Antilles and the Spanish Main. He is not a geographer, nor a historian nor a professional scribe. He is one of London's most distinguished medical men—surgeon-general to the King and that sort of thing. He is, however, a great traveller and a brilliant writer on travel. He made his voyage to and through the islands and their blue seas for the joy of the thing and apparently he wrote with the same impulse.

So he is trammelled by no stiff canons of science or letters; he gambols about among his facts like a true savant at play. He has read up his subject; he has a wonderful gift of observation; he has a charming English style. The result is perhaps the most readable and one of the most informing of books—despite the many shelves of others that have been written—upon this fascinating section of the globe. There are 376 pages in the volume, and not a dull one among them. The letter press is aided by numerous maps and photographs by the author, the latter of unusual quality and really enlightening the text.

The origin of the title is whimsical. Sir Frederick takes stock of the feats of the British navy in West Indian waters from the days of Drake and Dampier and Froisher and Hawkins down to Nelson and Keppel and Rodney. These seas were the cradle of British prowess in maritime affairs—the cradle of the deep in which naval heroism was rocked and nurtured into its great glory.

"In the seclusion of these gorgeous islands, indeed, the long sea story of England was begun. The West Indies became the nursery of the British navy, the school where the thews were hardened and the sea lesson learned. Here was fostered and fed that soul of adventure and reckless daring which inspired the early colonist and made invincible the man with the boarding pike. Here grew from puny beginnings the germ of the great sea Power of the world."

"In the proud romance of the sea, in the ocean songs and epics, in the sea stories which have been told and retold to generations of British lads, in the breeding of southerly men and the framing of far venturing ships, the islands have been no less than the cradle of the deep."

Sir Frederick shows in the pages that follow that other nations—the Spaniards, French and Dutch in particular—had their share in the glorious cradling. It is true that all these islands, from the tip of Florida to the mouth of the Orinoco, and all the coast of the Caribbean have been scenes of adventure in multiple degree. There is not one of the smaller islands south of Porto Rico that was not taken again and again by French and English or Spanish and English. Generally the treaty that closed the war gave it back to the Power which had lost it in the fighting. Four European flags waved among the palms until we bought the Virgin group from the Danes. Three remain—the British, the French and the Dutch. The last named people still hold those quaint rocks rising out of the ocean—St. John and Saba—where memories of the pirates are vivid and they build ships on the tops of the hills and chute them into the water.

The French have the wonderful Martinique and Guadeloupe islands which form a Department of France and send Deputies to the French Chamber, which supply France with that super-refined white rum that is the alcoholic basis of the perfume industry. Treves gives a vivid picture of the Empress Josephine shining and stately in marble in the middle of the Savane at Fort de France in Martinique, near which she was born. The quaint little tropical city is just saturated with the atmosphere of romance. The creole, easygoing life that Lafcadio Hearn pictured still pulsates strongly in its population, of ordinary men and lusciously beautiful women. Treves does not mention it, for apparently his visit was before the war; but nowadays every second figure in the street is in black, for these islands gave 30,000 soldiers to France and the mortality was cruel.

But he dwells with real feeling on that other tragedy of Martinique, the eruption of Mont Pele and the demolition of St. Pierre with its 30,000 inhabitants by one titanic breath of flame on the morning of Thursday, May 8, 1902. He wandered through the ruins in February, 1907, and tells of how the jungle was gradually blanketing the ghastly scar on the coast that was the ruined city. He imagines the night before the awful calamity and traces the vague dread of a girl, "Ti Marie," through her disturbed sleep to the moment when "a savage blast of flame darted in, and in a second the soft, palpitating body of the little maid was a curled up thing of dark ash." He picked up a watch which had stopped at 7:52 and had been partly protected from fusion by the body of its owner, in whose pocket it was. It must have felt the last pulsations of her heart against its own ticking, which only stopped thirty minutes later, "when the heat reached its own heart and stopped that too."

Hayti, the "Island of Misrule"; Cuba the splendid modernised Panama, the Colombian and Venezuelan coasts with their wild traditions in a setting that looks half Oriental are vividly and sympathetically pictured. But it is on the British islands that the author loves to dwell. The forts on the hills and in the woods in St. Lucia; the Bocas of Trinidad and Nelson's wild race through them on the Victory in search of the fleet that he defeated at Trafalgar; Nevis, where he married the pretty widow, Fanny Nisbet—the registry is still to be seen in the Fig Tree Church—Jamaica, with its wonderful scenery, natural wealth and turbulent history, are all made vivid in these animated pages.

Every one who loves nature in her most inspiring forms and inspired by the memory of stirring deeds of men should see the West Indies. Next to seeing them the best thing to do is read this book. Sir Frederick saw the color and caught the spirit, and with rare word artistry has made both live and glow in his page.

Destruction Of The Public Gardens

Sir: With reference to the allusion in your columns yesterday to an open letter addressed by Mr. W. Bruce Lockhart to Mr. C. H. Godfrey, Commissioner of Public Works, in connexion with the Bund widening scheme, I am directed to inform you, for publication, that the Council takes strong exception to this personal attack, made upon Mr. Godfrey, for a measure for which the Council itself is responsible. The project for continuing the Bund Reclamation Scheme from its former termination at Peking Road, as far as the Garden Bridge, was referred to by the Chairman of Council at the Ratepayers' Meeting in April last when he stated that provision had been made in the Budget for continuing the Reclamation works, from their then termination at Peking Road up to the Garden Bridge, and that thereby, not only would the Bund Road be widened, but an increase, not a decrease, would result in the area of the Public Garden.

Should Mr. W. Bruce Lockhart, therefore, have occasion to criticise the wisdom or unwisdom of the Bund Improvement Scheme,

Father Healy, the parish priest of Little Bray, County, Wicklow, Ireland, had a ready wit.

"Sir," said a priest from another diocese, in discussing the possible appointment of a bishop.

"We have no vacancy for a fool in our diocese."

"Are you, then, so full?" quietly asked Healy.

Sir Francis Doyle was dining at the Duke of Devonshire's (whose family name is Cavendish) when the conversation turned upon the oddity of American names.

"Fancy such a name as Birdseye!" remarked someone at the table.

"Birdseye," said Doyle, "is surely as good as 'Cavendish' any day."

"Not a creature smiled," he said in repeating his jest.

"They all thought I meant to insult them!"

Shanghai Waterworks Co.
To Issue New Debentures

Debenture holders of The Shanghai Waterworks Company at a meeting held yesterday at the company's office authorized the issuance of Tls. 2,000,000 debentures bearing interest at the rate of 8 percent. Holders of existing debentures are to have the option of exchanging their holdings for like amounts of debentures of the new issue with repayment in cash of Tls. 5 in respect of each Tls. 100 debentures of the existing issue.

The changes authorized at the meeting are set forth in a circular letter dated April 27 that was mailed to debenture holders.

Mr. F. B. Pitcairn, Secretary and Engineer in Chief of the Company, presided at the meeting and the resolution that was adopted was offered by him and seconded by Mr. W. L. Gerrard.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS
The address of the Chairman was as follows:

Gentlemen: This meeting of debenture holders has been convened by the Shanghai Waterworks Company, Ltd. to obtain your assent to a modification or compromise of our rights against the company and its property, namely, the surrender and release to the company of the present charge upon its undertaking and property and as you will have seen from the circular letter sent out by the company on April 27, 1921, the company offers us debentures of a proposed new issue of 8 percent debentures at 95 with repayment of Tls. 5.—per Tls. 100.—debenture in exchange for our present holdings and in the event of our refusing such offer it is the company's intention to give 6 months' notice of repayment.

As you are aware the company in order to more effectually secure its debentures executed a deed of trust and mortgage in 1916 in favor of Messrs. C. W. Holliday and J. H. Teesdale, your trustees, and under the terms of this deed a general meeting of debenture holders has the power to grant the assent of the debenture holders by extraordinary resolution, that is to say that if the extraordinary resolution about to be proposed is passed, it will be the terms of the trust deed be binding upon all the debenture holders whether present at this meeting or not.

CIRCULAR LETTER
The company's proposals are set forth in the circular letter already referred to and that they have met with the support of the majority of debenture holders is evinced by the large number of proxies for this meeting sent to the company.

Your trustees have carefully examined the company's proposals and they recommend us to vote in favor of the resolution.

If the resolution is passed by the requisite majority the company will execute a new deed of mortgage and trust securing debentures to the amount of Tls. 4,000,000.—and Messrs. Holliday and Teesdale have again consented to act as trustees. The proposed new trust deed is on the table and has been initialed for the purpose of identification by the directors of the company and by the trustees; it is in substantially the same form as the existing trust deed but the terms upon which debentures are to be issued from time to time are left to the discretion of the directors.

THE RESOLUTION
The resolution that was adopted following the Chairman's address was as follows:

That this meeting of holders of debentures of The Shanghai Waterworks Company, Limited, hereby assents to a proposed modification or compromise of the rights of the said holders against the company and its property namely the surrender and release to the company of the present charge upon its undertaking and property and in particular of the whole of the mortgaged premises as set forth in the second Schedule attached to the deed of mortgage and trust dated the 21st day of June 1916 and made between the company of the one part and Cecil William Holliday and John Hermann Teesdale as trustees of the other part in consideration of the offer to debenture holders of debentures of a value corresponding to their present holdings to be part of a series of debentures to secure Tls. 4,000,000 to be secured by the deed of mortgage and trust a draft of which has been submitted to this meeting and has for the purpose of identification been initialed by the directors of the company and by the trustees for the debenture holders. And in consideration of the undertaking on the part of the company to redeem the debentures held by debenture holders (if any) entitled to dissent and dissenting from the proposed modification or compromise after six months' notice to be given forthwith by the company and the trustees for the debenture holders are hereby authorized to surrender and release to the company the said mortgaged premises accordingly and to concur with the company in executing such deed of mortgage and trust.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Pearson and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending yesterday:

Exchange:—The London price of silver at 35 1/2 d. is 1/4 d. higher than last week. The rise according to advices has been caused by "Bears Covering" and speculative purchases; during the last two days the Continent has been selling and the price shows signs of falling away. Our local market has also been influenced by speculative sales of Gold T.T. by our local Gold dealers, and with a fair amount of "held over" export paper offering our rate for T.T. on London was raised 1d. to 3/4d. With the check in the rise in silver, a good demand for T.T. remittances appeared and the premium over official quotations which had ruled as high as 3d. eased off to 1 1/4d. At the close, with a good demand still running and little cover offering our exchange Market is weak.

Our stocks of Silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 34,700,000, a decline of Tls. 2,190,000.
Chinese and Mexican Dollars $27,350,000, a decline of $930,000.
Estimated value in Taels Tls. 54,377,000 as against Tls. 49,550,000 held at this time last year.

"The Girl Who Came Back"

If a man breaks into a house at dead o' night he expects, if discovered, to meet with a pretty hot reception.

But if the crackman sends his pretty daughter instead, and the son of the house comes down in his dressing gown and finds the intruder's slender fingers toying with the family pearls, what's the upshot then, particularly if the girl is as attractive as Ethel Clayton?
